

Divided We Fail Key Findings in Missouri

Health care costs are skyrocketing and retirement savings are inadequate. The American people have said that these issues are top domestic priorities, and they want answers and action from our elected officials now.<sup>1</sup>

AMERICANS NEED AFFORDABLE, QUALITY HEALTH CARE

Too many people in Missouri are uninsured.

- In 2005, 13 percent of people in Missouri did not have health insurance.
  - 17 percent of those ages 19-64 were uninsured.
  - 9 percent of children were uninsured.
  - 22 percent of African Americans under age 65 were uninsured compared to 13 percent of Whites under age 65.<sup>2</sup>

Health care costs too much.

- Between 1991 and 2004, personal health care expenditures in Missouri grew an average of 7.0 percent per year.<sup>3</sup>
- The average total single premium rose from $2,316 in 1998 to $3,305 in 2003 for employees enrolled at private firms in Missouri that offered health coverage. This was an increase of 43 percent in inflation-adjusted dollars.<sup>4</sup>
- The average employee contribution for health insurance in Missouri rose from $387 per year in 1998 to $572 per year in 2003.<sup>5</sup>
- Over the last seven years, the average national manufacturers' price of 153 common drugs increased almost 54 percent, more than 2½ times the rate of inflation.<sup>6</sup>

People in Missouri are concerned about health care costs.

- In 2004, nearly half (48%) of registered voters in Missouri considered health care one of the most important issues they wanted to see addressed by presidential and vice-presidential candidates.<sup>7</sup>
- 89 percent of AARP members in Missouri indicated in 2005 that making prescription drugs more affordable should be a "top" or "high" priority for the association.<sup>8</sup>
- 88 percent of Missouri AARP members consider it either extremely important or very important that the State work toward making prescription drug costs more affordable to Missouri residents.<sup>9</sup>

Americans overall are concerned about health care costs.

- In 2006, 80 percent of Americans were dissatisfied with the total cost of health care in this country, including 58 percent who were very dissatisfied.<sup>10</sup>
- In 2006, 68 percent of Americans believed that providing health care for all Americans was more important than holding down taxes.<sup>11</sup>

AMERICANS NEED LIFETIME FINANCIAL SECURITY

Social Security is vital to the well-being of people in Missouri.

- In 2003, nearly one out of five Missouri residents (18%) received Social Security.
  - Roughly three out of five (62%) beneficiaries were retirees.
  - Two out of five (39%) beneficiaries were widows or widowers, workers with disabilities, wives or husbands of workers, or children.<sup>12</sup>
- In 2000, Social Security constituted at least 50% of the total income of more than one-half of Missouri residents age 65+ (54%).<sup>13</sup>
- In 2000, one out of four people (24%) in Missouri age 65 or older relied on Social Security as their only source of income.<sup>14</sup>
- On average, more than two out of five (44%) Missouri residents age 65 or older would have lived below the poverty line in 2000 through 2002 if they had not received Social Security.<sup>15</sup>

People in Missouri are concerned about having a secure retirement.

- In 2005, nine out of ten (90%) AARP members in Missouri believed that ensuring Social Security as a guaranteed base for retirement income should be either a “top” or “high” legislative priority for the association.<sup>16</sup>
- In 2004, nearly one in seven (13%) registered voters in Missouri considered Social Security one of the most important domestic issues they wanted to see addressed by presidential and vice-presidential candidates.<sup>17</sup>

Americans overall are concerned about having a secure retirement.

- 68 percent of American workers say they are not too or not at all confident that Social Security will continue to provide benefits of at least equal value to the benefits retirees receive today.<sup>18</sup>
- 48 percent of Americans say they are not too or not at all confident that they will have enough money to live comfortably throughout their retirement years.<sup>19</sup>
- 78 percent of Americans say they strongly or somewhat favor automatic enrollment in 401(k)s and having employers set up employee contributions through payroll deduction unless the employee chooses not to participate.<sup>20</sup>
- 79 percent of Americans agree that employers who do not offer some type of retirement plan should be required to offer workers the option of regularly saving a part of their paycheck in a personal individual retirement account or IRA, even if the employer does not contribute to that account.<sup>21</sup>

Americans have not saved enough to retire.

- Only 25 percent of American workers are very confident of achieving a comfortable lifestyle in retirement.<sup>22</sup>
- Only one out of four (25%) baby boomers say they are very prepared for retirement.<sup>23</sup>
- Just 43 percent of workers have actually tried to figure out how much money they will need to save in order to live comfortably in retirement.<sup>24</sup>
