

Ladybug started its journey here

▲ LADYBUG IN HIDING

The bird at top left is looking for a nice juicy ladybug that she saw crawling around on these leaves. The ladybug started on the leaf shown at bottom then traveled once across every available overlap between one leaf and an adjacent leaf. She stopped when there were no new "overlaps" to visit. As a result she visited every leaf in the maze once, except for the junctions, which she visited twice. Under which leaf is the ladybug hiding?

